Hollowell, 2003 Edited volume exploring key issues in ethics for archaeologists Visit our website for sample chapters The Ethics of Archaeology Chris Scarre, Geoffrey Scarre, 2006-01-19 The question of ethics and their role in archaeology has stimulated one of the discipline's liveliest debates In this collection of essays first published in 2006 an international team of archaeologists anthropologists and philosophers explore the ethical issues archaeology needs to address Marrying the skills and expertise of practitioners from different disciplines the collection produces interesting insights into many of the ethical dilemmas facing archaeology today Topics discussed include relations with indigenous peoples the professional standards and responsibilities of researchers the role of ethical codes the notion of value in archaeology concepts of stewardship and custodianship the meaning and moral implications of heritage the question of who owns the past or the interpretation of it the trade in antiquities the repatriation of skeletal material and treatment of the dead This important collection is essential reading for all those working in the field of archaeology be they scholar or practitioner Ethics in American Archaeology Mark J. Lynott, Alison Wylie, Society for American Archaeology, 1995

Ethics and Values in Archaeology Ernestene L. Green, 1984 Ethics in Archaeological Practice Paul Belford, Gerry Wait, 2025-06-30 Ethics in Archaeological Practice focuses on the ethics of archaeological work in a European context This book covers all aspects of the archaeological profession including archaeological advisors employed by state national or regional heritage agencies commercial archaeologists consultants and contractors and academics It considers all archaeologists as professionals and situates ethical practice at the heart of what it means to be a professional archaeologist It works as a practical handbook organised around the main areas of activity that archaeologists undertake allowing the book to be used as a reference work when required Ethics in Archaeological Practice will appeal to professional archaeologists academics and students as well as those involved in professional training Archaeological Ethics Karen D. Vitelli, 2006 Looting Reburial and repatriation Relations with native peoples Professional conduct The second edition of Archaeological Ethics combines compelling articles on these topics written for a general audience with valuable teaching aids The updated articles provide a fascinat Ethics in Action Chip Colwell-Chanthaphonh, Julie Hollowell, Dru McGill, 2008-03-01 Based on the Society for American Archaeology's Annual Ethics Bowl this SAA Press book is centered on a series of hypothetical case studies that challenge the reader to think through the complexities of archaeological ethics The volume will benefit undergraduate and graduate students who can either use these cases as a classroom activity or as preparation for the Ethics Bowl as well as those who are seeking to better understand the ethical predicaments that face the discipline

Ethics and the Archaeology of Violence Alfredo González-Ruibal, Gabriel Moshenska, 2014-11-10 This volume examines the distinctive and highly problematic ethical questions surrounding conflict archaeology By bringing together sophisticated analyses and pertinent case studies from around the world it aims to address the problems facing archaeologists working in areas of violent conflict past and present Of all the contentious issues within archaeology and heritage the study of conflict and work within conflict zones are undoubtedly the most highly charged and hotly debated both within and outside the discipline Ranging across the conflict zones of the world past and present this book attempts to raise the level of these often fractious debates by locating them within ethical frameworks The issues and debates in this book range across a range of ethical models including deontological teleological and virtue ethics The chapters address real world ethical conundrums that confront archaeologists in a diversity of countries including Israel Palestine Iran Uruguay Argentina Rwanda Germany and Spain They all have in common recent traumatic experiences of war and dictatorship The chapters provide carefully argued thought provoking analyses and examples that will be of real practical use to archaeologists in formulating and addressing ethical dilemmas in a confident and constructive manner

Ethics in Archaeological Practice Sarah Kielt Costello, Sarah Lepinski, 2024-12-31 Ethics in Archaeological Practice explores urgent topics and issues in archaeology as currently practiced in the classroom the field the museum and the public sphere While addressed primarily to archaeologists working in western Asia the eastern Mediterranean and North Africa the volume raises contemporary ethical questions around race gender disability climate change and cultural heritage that are pressing and relevant to archaeology students and professionals worldwide The fifteen contributors offer fundamental case studies and practical guidance for best practices and models of high standards of ethical practice in professional conduct Together they offer new approaches to advocacy and the responsible stewardship of heritage sites collections and the environment These compelling and generative discussions make the case for a 21st century archaeology that is proactive and engaged with discourses addressing equity social justice anti colonialism and climate change

Ethical Approaches to Human Remains Kirsty Squires, David Errickson, Nicholas Márquez-Grant, 2020-01-01 This book is the first of its kind combining international perspectives on the current ethical considerations and challenges facing bioarchaeologists in the recovery analysis curation and display of human remains It explores how museum curators commercial practitioners forensic anthropologists and bioarchaeologists deal with ethical issues pertaining to human remains in traditional and digital settings around the world The book not only raises key ethical questions concerning the study display and curation of skeletal remains that bioarchaeologists must face and overcome in different countries but also explores how this global community can work together to increase awareness of similar and indeed disparate ethical considerations around the world and how they can be addressed in working practices The key aspects addressed include ethics in bioarchaeology and forensic anthropology the excavation curation and display of human remains repatriation and new imaging techniques As such the book offers an ideal guide for students and practitioners in the fields of bioarchaeology osteoarchaeology forensic anthropology medical anthropology archaeology anatomy museum and archive studies and philosophy detailing how some ethical dilemmas have been addressed and which future dilemmas need to be considered Appropriating the Past Geoffrey Scarre, Robin Coningham, 2013 An international and multidisciplinary team addresses significant ethical questions about the rights to access manage and interpret the material remains of the past

Ethical Issues in Anthropological Research Subir Biswas, 2014-01-01 Anthropologists criticize some components of bioethics because of their abstract principles derived from arm chair philosophy and lack of cross cultural analysis and ethnocentric view for that they prepare a readymade ethical code of conduct which may differ significantly from culture to culture This volume aims to investigate such area of bioethics which may criticize in the light of anthropological fieldwork The work also finds some area of bioethics to study cultural construct of morality including cross cultural analysis keeping in mind cultural relativism in true sense The present work is an outcome of national seminar entitled Ethical Issues in Anthropological Research organized by Department of Anthropology West Bengal State University during 19-20 January 2012 Hope this work will be of interest not only to anthropologists or scholars of related field but also funding agencies and participant beneficiaries of the said field ARCHAEOLOGY AND CAPITALISM Yannis Hamilakis, Philip Duke, 2007-12-15

The editors and contributors to this volume focus on the inherent political nature of archaeology and its impact on the practice of the discipline Pointing to the discipline's history of advancing imperialist colonialist and racist objectives they insist that archaeology must rethink its muted professional stance and become more overtly active agents of change The discipline is not about an abstract archaeological record but about living individuals and communities whose lives and heritage suffer from the abuse of power relationships with states and their agents Only by recognizing this power disparity and adopting a political ethic for the discipline can archaeology justify its activities Chapters range from a critique of traditional ethical codes to examinations of the capitalist motivations and structures within the discipline to calls for an engaged emancipatory archaeology that improves the lives of the people with whom archaeologists work A direct challenge to the discipline this volume will provoke discussion disagreement and inspiration for many in the field An Introduction to Archaeological Chemistry T. Douglas Price, James H. Burton, 2010-10-17 Archaeological chemistry is a subject of great importance to the study and methodology of archaeology This comprehensive text covers the subject with a full range of case studies materials and research methods With twenty years of experience teaching the subject the authors offer straightforward coverage of archaeological chemistry a subject that can be intimidating for many archaeologists who do not already have a background in the hard sciences With clear explanations and informative illustrations the authors have created a highly approachable text which will help readers overcome that intimidation Topics covered included Materials rock pottery bone charcoal soils metals and others Instruments microscopes NAA spectrometers mass spectrometers GC MS XRF XRD Case Studies Provenience Sediments Diet Reconstruction Past Human Movement Organic Residues The detailed coverage and clear language will make this useful as an introduction to the study of archaeological chemistry as well as a useful resource for years after that introduction Responsibilities of Archaeologists Mark Pluciennik, 2001 The idea that archaeologists are representatives or stewards of the archaeological record does not do justice to the complex practical decisions archaeologists often have to make and the political and moral dilemmas they face everyday The Ethics of Cultural Heritage Tracy Ireland, John Schofield, 2016-03-12 It is widely acknowledged that all archaeological research is embedded within cultural political and economic contexts and that all archaeological research falls under the heading heritage Most archaeologists now work in museums and other cultural institutions government agencies non government organisations and private sector companies and this diversity ensures that debates continue to proliferate about what constitutes appropriate professional ethics within these related and relevant contexts Discussions about the ethics of cultural heritage in the 20th century focused on standards of professionalism stewardship responsibilities to stakeholders and on establishing public trust in the authenticity of the outcomes of the heritage process This volume builds on recent approaches that move away from treating ethics as responsibilities to external domains and to the discipline and which seek to ensure ethics are integral to all heritage theory practice and methods The chapters in this collection chart a departure from the tradition of external heritage ethics towards a broader approach underpinned by the turn to human rights issues of social justice and the political economy of heritage conceptualising ethical responsibilities not as pertaining to the past but to a future focused domain of social action Archaeology and Indigenous Peoples , 1991
