Farming for Inclusive Market Access Carlos A. Da Silva,Marlo Rankin,2013 Recent transformations in agrifood systems have created new technical requirements and compliance costs that make it increasingly difficult for resource poor farmers to access modern market channels In this respect the question of whether contract farming can be an effective institutional mechanism to address this issue stands out as one of special relevance This book aims to typify the extent to which contract farming is helping small farmers to access markets and meet stringent requirements of manufacturers retailers exporters and service firms from both food and non food sectors such as biofuels and forestry It seeks to clarify differences in the functionality of contracts depending on commodity market technology public policies and country circumstances Conceptual issues are discussed and real world case study appraisals from developing regions are presented The issues raised in the case studies and the key messages synthesized in the initial chapter bring new insights and contributions to further enrich knowledge on contract farming as a tool for inclusive market access in developing countries Publisher s description
